Student Comments:

- The online factor just made everything more difficult for me, My Professor seems to know what he's doing but with an online component it made it hard for me to learn since i've never learned this way before, I give no fault to my professor because Covid he along with every other Professor have had to find new ways to teach effectively and properly, it just didn't work out as well for me.
- The material is difficult but in light of the conditions the instructor did everything possible to effectively communicate the material. Was supportive in response to questions and requests to re-explain or slow down while covering material which was appreciated. Graded more than fairly allowing partial credit for work shown. Instructor did a great job of applying material the to real world or explained it as foundational material to further classes as much as possible.
- I really like how the professor went out of his way to help us learn more effectively by switching up the style of the class. Instead of meeting one day a week like we did in the beginning he changed the class into more of a lecture styled class where we would meet three times a week and he would go over the material we needed to know. I feel that this helped me in the long run instead of just watching videos of how to do the work.
- This semester has been hard on both students and professors. However, I feel like you made the best of it. Your willingness to take the time to help us through office hours on Zoom and within class has been very helpful. The work load in the beginning of the semester was a lot with the classwork's, but when we switched to fully remote and attended class each day things got more manageable. Overall, I think you are doing a really great job given this crazy semester.
- Really thoughtful professor but teaching style was alittle too over the place for my understanding. Not sure if it was a mixture of the fact that we were online, but it was very challenging to learn this material.
- Good guy... Bad structure due to COVID circumstances. Would take another class with him as hes a clear speaker and instructor.
